

Norwich Bulletin and Courier

119 YEARS OLD

Subscription price 12c a week; 50c a month; $6.00 a year.

Entered at the Postoffice at Norwich, Conn., as second-class matter.

Telephone Calls: Bulletin Business Office 450. Bulletin Editorial Rooms 25-2. Bulletin Job Office 25-2.

Willamantic Office, Room 2, Murray Building. Telephone 210.

Norwich, Tuesday, Nov. 30, 1915.

The Circulation of The Bulletin

The Bulletin has the largest circulation of any paper in Eastern Connecticut and from three to four times larger than that of any in Norwich. It is delivered to over 4,000 of the 4,053 houses in Norwich and read by ninety-three percent of the people. In Windham it is delivered to over 300 houses, in Putnam and Danielson to over 1,100, and in all of these places it is considered the local daily.

Eastern Connecticut has forty-nine towns, one hundred and sixty-five postoffice districts, and sixty rural free delivery routes.

The Bulletin is sold in every town and on all of the R. F. D. routes in Eastern Connecticut.

CIRCULATION

1901, average..... 4,412
1905, average..... 5,920

November 27..... 9,016

A COMMENDABLE ACT.

The account which is given by Eleanor F. Egan of the experience which she and the others aboard the British ship Barullos had in the Mediterranean when a Turkish submarine fired a shot across its bow after having sunk another British steamer carrying freight, the crew of which had just been taken aboard the Barullos, reads like a fairy tale. It is filled with harrowing features, but the surprising part of the whole affair is the conduct of the submarine and the declaration by its commander, "Go back to your boat, we are not murderers."

Coming so close after the sinking of the Ancona, which likewise was a passenger ship without contraband and bound for this country, and displaying such consideration for the human cargo, though the panic, which had been caused by the appearance of and shot from the plunger following so closely as it did upon the rescue of the freighter's crew, resulted in the loss of 25 lives, it presents a contrast which is decidedly striking.

Whether it was an isolated case where a humanitarian is in command of a submarine or whether it indicates a disposition to respect the rights of humanity and not fill the role of murderers when there is no military advantage to be gained remains to be seen, for certainly it is an example of the manner in which the submarine warfare is to be conducted in the Mediterranean in the future. It is a most gratifying and commendable change, and the whole civilized world cannot but take such a view of it and express the hope that it is permanent and not a solitary instance of trying to keep within the bounds of international law and justice.

PERPETUATING MEMORIAL DAY.

Looking to the future, and it is with regret that it must be recognized as being at no great distance ahead, the patriotic citizens of Indianapolis have begun preparations which will insure the perpetuation of the observance of Memorial day, after those in whose hands the details now rest are numbered among the heroic dead. This has been done by the organization of a society termed the General Memorial association, the object of which is to inspire patriotism and to prevent the loss of interest in Memorial day which promises to be seriously affected by the passing of the old soldiers.

As long as the veterans are able either by act or enthusiasm, they will continue to keep green the memory of their comrades who made such great sacrifices in behalf of the nation, but those living who participated in the Civil war are getting to be old men. Their enthusiasm does not abate, but their infirmities increase as their numbers decrease and the time is coming, as it inevitably must, when they will have to relinquish the Memorial day duties to others. There are, of course, the Sons of Veterans, upon whom such work would naturally devolve, but they are a much weaker organization than the Grand Army and there are many places where they fail to exist.

Thus it would appear that Indianapolis citizens have made a move in the right direction and to obtain results it has been made none too soon. The last organized march of the veterans has been made in many places and the number is constantly increasing and the example which has been set by the Indiana city is one that ought to spread throughout the country.

FEDERAL RESERVE DISTRICTS.

Ever since the makeup of the districts under the federal reserve system was announced there has been discontent in certain cities because they were not chosen as the location for the reserve bank of its district. This feeling is based upon size and the financial strength of the cities. There are also sections of certain districts which believe that district lines should be changed so that they would be placed in districts where the bulk of their business is done.

For the purpose of straightening out these conditions appeals have been made to the National Reserve board under the belief that it had the power to make such readjustments as it was considered wise and in the interest of the communities served. That they have not that power is revealed by the legal advice which has been given to the board by Attorney General Gregory, who maintains that it is beyond the jurisdiction of the board to act on such petitions. According to his opinion the districts must remain as they are until congress sanctions a change or until it gives the board the power to make them. Whether congress intended to retain such control or whether it was expected that such powers had been delegated to the board, the fact is that the board can do nothing under the existing act. This means that if anything is to be done congress must be called upon to consider matters which might better have been left with the board, the members of which are in close touch with the conditions and fully understand the grounds upon which the dissatisfaction rests, and therefore in view of their other responsibilities ought to be capable of handling such matters in accordance with the facts.

PRESIDENT ELLIOTT'S ADVICE.

Just how the large volume of export freight is tying up certain railroads is indicated by the order just issued by the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western road to the effect that no more freight for export will be received until further notice. Despite all it can do its terminals and sidings are choked with cars loaded with goods which it is impossible to move because of a lack of steamship facilities for handling them. It is entirely due to the unprecedented movement of commodities to Europe and how great the volume of business is at the present time is well disclosed by the fact that goods to the amount of $175,000,000 and carried on 393 ships left New York during the month of October and yet there is freight which has stood in care for 80 days.

It is not solely the Lackawanna road which is experiencing this trouble for all are feeling it, but the best must be made of the situation until the needed relief can be obtained. The situation is not so acute in New England, but there is need of devoting plenty of attention to the matter of relief and preventing a congestion such as exists elsewhere. In the opinion of President Elliott of the New Haven road, the difficulty in New England is not so much car shortage as shortage of tracks, terminals and private sidetracks at factories so that cars can be placed and unloaded promptly. The country, he believes, should encourage the investment of capital in ships, railroads, terminals and equipment. There can be no question but what President Elliott hits the nail on the head when he refers to the part which capital can play if properly encouraged.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT.

While the question of preparedness is before the country, much food for thought is furnished by the statement which has just been issued by the British war office to the effect that since the opening of the war there have been killed, wounded or captured nearly 21,000 officers. That means a tremendous loss in view of the small number of troops which Great Britain was able to put into the field during the early stages of the war, but it shows the necessity of providing the proper number of officers.

The disclosure which is made by this statement is one of much importance to this country when the need of a larger army is being pointed out. While it is possible to get volunteers in large numbers or possible to raise an army it is an entirely different thing when it comes to getting officers to direct them. Even militia companies in times of peace fully understand that every soldier is not capable of becoming an officer and with the amount of training that is required to make them efficient where would this country be able to secure at once the necessary number that would be required in the event of war? Great Britain has lost in a year and a half in officers alone practically one-quarter of the entire standing army of this country.

Even under the proposed plan of reorganizing the army and the establishment of a Continental army it would require much time in order to get officers to command it, and an army well equipped in that respect would have proper consideration in advance in line with the improvements which are sought under the effort in behalf of preparedness.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Servia is having as much trouble getting the location of its capital fixed as Belgium did.

If early Christmas shopping is going to be a success there is something for the shopkeepers to do as well as the shoppers.

The man on the corner says: To be up to date one must do something more than tear a leaf off the calendar every month.

It is now claimed that China will remain a republic until after the war is ended. By that time it may not be so anxious for a change.

Perhaps Col. Bryan in declaring that he will not oppose the president realizes that opposition from certain sources really means a boost.

One reason possibly that Col. Roosevelt has not been asked by Henry Ford to sail on the Oscar II is the fact that it is going on a peace mission.

Those who go into the woods after deer and return with a dead or wounded companion must wonder whether the sport is worth the price.

That Brand Whitlock has not been caught jumping at vice presidential nominations furnishes further proof of the claim that he is a good diplomat.

From the reception the Ford peace ship idea is receiving across the water it wouldn't be surprising if Uncle Sam received a request to keep it at home.

Correspondents returning from Europe manage to tell an interesting story where they managed to approach the front or figure in a submarine attack.

The weather man has been restricting the operations of Jack Frost, but judging from the determination which he has shown in the past he will have his way before spring opens.

The Charleston, S. C. News and Courier mentions "these hard times," but it wasn't supposed that such a reference would be tolerated in the south during a democratic administration.

ADVENTURES OF TRAVEL

"It was a sad night for me!" mourned the girl who likes to talk. "Never, never so long as I live, shall I know whether Lake Louise, Canada, was the spot where Clarence had his dreadful headache or whether it wasn't! What made it sadder was the fact that I had expected to have my mind improved, which is always a painful process, but to which I was resigned this time, and it didn't get improved! I don't quite know what happened to it, but I think it emerged from that evening's entertainment at the movies in what might be described as a curdled state."

"They began the minute the screen was flooded with travel pictures showing the Canadian Rockies. One of the women was fluffy and she squealed with joy at the start."

"Oh, goody, Clarence!" she cried. "I simply love seeing pictures that I have seen! I mean where I have been! Of course it won't be as good as really seeing them—that is, if you haven't been there—but if you have it's better than the same old—oh, my goodness, you know what I mean! Isn't that perfectly be-yutiful!"

"You were right there, weren't you, Adeline?" chimed in the other woman who had a plaintive voice. "How interesting!"

"Yes, right there," joyously agreed the fluffy one. "See, Clarence! Remember that? Oh, yes you do, too! Why, when we were going by that spot we had just seen the same old—oh, my goodness, you know what I mean! Isn't that perfectly be-yutiful!"

"You were right there, weren't you, Adeline?" chimed in the other woman who had a plaintive voice. "How interesting!"

"Yes, right there," joyously agreed the fluffy one. "See, Clarence! Remember that? Oh, yes you do, too! Why, when we were going by that spot we had just seen the same old—oh, my goodness, you know what I mean! Isn't that perfectly be-yutiful!"

"You were right there, weren't you, Adeline?" chimed in the other woman who had a plaintive voice. "How interesting!"

"Yes, right there," joyously agreed the fluffy one. "See, Clarence! Remember that? Oh, yes you do, too! Why, when we were going by that spot we had just seen the same old—oh, my goodness, you know what I mean! Isn't that perfectly be-yutiful!"

"You were right there, weren't you, Adeline?" chimed in the other woman who had a plaintive voice. "How interesting!"

"Yes, right there," joyously agreed the fluffy one. "See, Clarence! Remember that? Oh, yes you do, too! Why, when we were going by that spot we had just seen the same old—oh, my goodness, you know what I mean! Isn't that perfectly be-yutiful!"

"You were right there, weren't you, Adeline?" chimed in the other woman who had a plaintive voice. "How interesting!"

"Yes, right there," joyously agreed the fluffy one. "See, Clarence! Remember that? Oh, yes you do, too! Why, when we were going by that spot we had just seen the same old—oh, my goodness, you know what I mean! Isn't that perfectly be-yutiful!"

"You were right there, weren't you, Adeline?" chimed in the other woman who had a plaintive voice. "How interesting!"

"Yes, right there," joyously agreed the fluffy one. "See, Clarence! Remember that? Oh, yes you do, too! Why, when we were going by that spot we had just seen the same old—oh, my goodness, you know what I mean! Isn't that perfectly be-yutiful!"

"You were right there, weren't you, Adeline?" chimed in the other woman who had a plaintive voice. "How interesting!"

"Yes, right there," joyously agreed the fluffy one. "See, Clarence! Remember that? Oh, yes you do, too! Why, when we were going by that spot we had just seen the same old—oh, my goodness, you know what I mean! Isn't that perfectly be-yutiful!"

"You were right there, weren't you, Adeline?" chimed in the other woman who had a plaintive voice. "How interesting!"

"Yes, right there," joyously agreed the fluffy one. "See, Clarence! Remember that? Oh, yes you do, too! Why, when we were going by that spot we had just seen the same old—oh, my goodness, you know what I mean! Isn't that perfectly be-yutiful!"

"You were right there, weren't you, Adeline?" chimed in the other woman who had a plaintive voice. "How interesting!"

"Yes, right there," joyously agreed the fluffy one. "See, Clarence! Remember that? Oh, yes you do, too! Why, when we were going by that spot we had just seen the same old—oh, my goodness, you know what I mean! Isn't that perfectly be-yutiful!"

"You were right there, weren't you, Adeline?" chimed in the other woman who had a plaintive voice. "How interesting!"

"Yes, right there," joyously agreed the fluffy one. "See, Clarence! Remember that? Oh, yes you do, too! Why, when we were going by that spot we had just seen the same old—oh, my goodness, you know what I mean! Isn't that perfectly be-yutiful!"

"You were right there, weren't you, Adeline?" chimed in the other woman who had a plaintive voice. "How interesting!"

"Yes, right there," joyously agreed the fluffy one. "See, Clarence! Remember that? Oh, yes you do, too! Why, when we were going by that spot we had just seen the same old—oh, my goodness, you know what I mean! Isn't that perfectly be-yutiful!"

"You were right there, weren't you, Adeline?" chimed in the other woman who had a plaintive voice. "How interesting!"

"Yes, right there," joyously agreed the fluffy one. "See, Clarence! Remember that? Oh, yes you do, too! Why, when we were going by that spot we had just seen the same old—oh, my goodness, you know what I mean! Isn't that perfectly be-yutiful!"

"You were right there, weren't you, Adeline?" chimed in the other woman who had a plaintive voice. "How interesting!"

"Yes, right there," joyously agreed the fluffy one. "See, Clarence! Remember that? Oh, yes you do, too! Why, when we were going by that spot we had just seen the same old—oh, my goodness, you know what I mean! Isn't that perfectly be-yutiful!"

"You were right there, weren't you, Adeline?" chimed in the other woman who had a plaintive voice. "How interesting!"

"Yes, right there," joyously agreed the fluffy one. "See, Clarence! Remember that? Oh, yes you do, too! Why, when we were going by that spot we had just seen the same old—oh, my goodness, you know what I mean! Isn't that perfectly be-yutiful!"

"You were right there, weren't you, Adeline?" chimed in the other woman who had a plaintive voice. "How interesting!"

"Yes, right there," joyously agreed the fluffy one. "See, Clarence! Remember that? Oh, yes you do, too! Why, when we were going by that spot we had just seen the same old—oh, my goodness, you know what I mean! Isn't that perfectly be-yutiful!"

"You were right there, weren't you, Adeline?" chimed in the other woman who had a plaintive voice. "How interesting!"

"Yes, right there," joyously agreed the fluffy one. "See, Clarence! Remember that? Oh, yes you do, too! Why, when we were going by that spot we had just seen the same old—oh, my goodness, you know what I mean! Isn't that perfectly be-yutiful!"

"You were right there, weren't you, Adeline?" chimed in the other woman who had a plaintive voice. "How interesting!"

"Yes, right there," joyously agreed the fluffy one. "See, Clarence! Remember that? Oh, yes you do, too! Why, when we were going by that spot we had just seen the same old—oh, my goodness, you know what I mean! Isn't that perfectly be-yutiful!"

"You were right there, weren't you, Adeline?" chimed in the other woman who had a plaintive voice. "How interesting!"

"Yes, right there," joyously agreed the fluffy one. "See, Clarence! Remember that? Oh, yes you do, too! Why, when we were going by that spot we had just seen the same old—oh, my goodness, you know what I mean! Isn't that perfectly be-yutiful!"

"You were right there, weren't you, Adeline?" chimed in the other woman who had a plaintive voice. "How interesting!"

his mother should have broken him of the habit when he was young, because it certainly has an awful effect on strangers! It was that day when the waiter spoiled the salad dressing at luncheon! Sometimes the meals were perfectly dreadful on that trip! Still, usually they were very good! Why, Clarence, I'm sure you remember that spot!"

"What spot?" growled Clarence. "The miles above it, I mean!"

"Why, the one I was talking about!" insisted the fluffy one. "If you'd pay attention you'd know! He was just dreadful on that trip, wasn't he?"

"I was constantly calling his attention to the most be-yutiful things—there, Clarence, look now! Oh, if you will bend over to pick up programs from the floor of course you are going to miss things! I never say anything like you!"

"Men are dreadful trials," said the plaintive one. "Did you see that mountain, Adeline?"

"Oh, my yes!" said the fluffy one. "I saw everything! I'm sure I saw that one. Clarence was always in the smoker or something so—look, Clarence! Why, of course you do! We had lunch at that very hotel and the chicken disagreed with you and you had to go to bed with a terrible headache!"

"Not at all!" growled Clarence hotly. "It was at Lake Louise that I had that chicken! I guess I know—I was the one who had the headache, wasn't I?"

"No, Clarence," insisted the fluffy one patiently. "You know you have no head whatever for locality! It was when we had just seen the same old—oh, my goodness, you know what I mean! Isn't that perfectly be-yutiful!"

"I tell you," broke in Clarence firmly. "That I guess I know where I had that headache! It was the worst one I ever experienced and I was glad my will was made and all that, you know! Why, that chicken—"

"Now, dearie," patiently began the fluffy one, but her plaintive friend interrupted her.

"Aren't those mountains perfectly be-yutiful?" she gasped. "Did they really look as big as that, Adeline?"

"Heaps bigger," said Adeline. "Now, Clarence, listen! You know always remember detail much better than you do! Don't you recall that when you were sick they sent up a breakfast tray with loaf sugar cut in a peculiar shape?"

"It was at Lake Louise," Clarence asserted stubbornly.

"It certainly was not!" snapped the fluffy woman.

"I'm so sorry the Canadian Rocky film is over," sighed the plaintive person, getting to her feet. "Wasn't it perfectly be-yutiful though?"

"Oh, my, yes!" said the fluffy one. Now, Clarence, listen!—and they walked out still hand in hand, the girl who likes to talk, 'd give a nickel to know whether that headache took place at Lake Louise or the inn, but I've got to go through life unsatisfied. And I didn't see any more of that film than they did!"—Chicago News.

This abundance of food in the region which Stefanoson has been exploring adds to the probability that there may be yet undiscovered Eskino tribes in the Arctic regions. It has been usual to assume, because of the supposed scarcity of food, that no tribes of people would be found in the region which the Stefanoson party has ventured. It is possible that there are other and larger branches of the breed called the white Eskimo, a colony of which were only recently discovered.—Torrington Register.

The International Silver strike in Meriden is being prolonged over a difference of one hour of working time a week. The men will take ten per cent. increase and a fifty-four-hour week. The company will give ten per cent. increase and a fifty-five-hour week, and says that it is the maximum possible because of the fact that one of its twenty-two competitors are running on a fifty-five to fifty-nine-hour basis. It is one hour a week more. The company has put into effect already, another demand of the strikers and has established a minimum wage of twelve and one-half cents an hour for women workers.—Waterbury Republican.

Bridgeport today compares very favorably with other cities of its size and has probably as good a class of boys and girls as other cities, but for the good of the nation it has, and they are altogether too much loose talk, loose thought and loose morals. It may not be possible to reform those who are grown up, but the minds of children can be so impregnated with the thought of purity and of their duty to themselves, their country and their God, that they will not participate in clandestine meetings nor ally themselves in marriage to those physically or morally unfit.—Bridgeport Standard.

Yale can hardly be expected to be thankful for what she has received this fall but after all, considering her circumstances, it may well be that a stinging defeat was just what her headstrong undergraduates needed. If they cannot see the handwriting on the wall now they will never be able to read even in the largest of type. What Yale wants most is the substitution of graduate control of football for what now prevails or at least graduate participation in the council that settles football problems. The students have had their chance and woefully missed it. As the record of the last few seasons shows. Now they should gracefully drape themselves over the rear seats and let older and wiser men help them out of the slough in which they are cast through their own bad judgment. What Yale really lacks is someone who can impress on the tender undergraduates just how little he knows of the broad scheme of life. That belief of his that the sun rises and sets coincident with its advent upon the campus will have to be toned down.—Ansonia Sentinel.

Norwalk's liquor bill for one year was $442,000, and the city's poor walk paid $30,000 to assist the poor.

The War a Year Ago Today
Nov. 30, 1914.

Three big battles were fought in Poland.
Russians captured ten miles of German trenches near Lowicz, but failed in attack on Darskheim.
Russians won successes in the Carpathians and Galicia.
British ships again bombarded Zeebrugge.
Germans were expelled from Petrograd for raising funds for war-ships.

HAIR AND SCALP
NEED DAILY CARE
Beautiful Hair is Within the Reach of All

If you value the appearance of your hair you should treat your scalp as often and well as you brush your teeth and rub into the scalp part twice daily a Little Parisian Sage. This treatment is not a mere "hair tonic." It is bottled nourishment for the hair roots and it is simply wonderful what an improvement its use for even a week will make in the appearance of anyone's hair. It never injures, is de-lightfully cool and pleasant to the scalp and takes out the dirt, lifeless look in the hair, making it soft, fluffy, glossy and beautiful. Two or three applications remove every trace of dandruff, and daily use will prevent its return. Lee & Osgood Co. and the leading druggists everywhere can furnish you with Parisian Sage—it costs but a trifle.

GRLS TRY! HAVE THICK, WAVY, BEAUTIFUL HAIR

EVERY PARTICLE OF DANDRUFF
DISAPPEARS AND HAIR
STOPS COMING OUT.

DRAW A MOIST CLOTH THROUGH HAIR AND DOUBLE ITS BEAUTY AT ONCE.

Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a "Dandierine hair cleanse." Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Dandierine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt and excessive oil, and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

Besides beautifying the hair at once, Dandierine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair. But what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use when you will actually see new hair—fine and hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair and lots of it surely get a 25-cent bottle of Dandierine. Dandierine is from any drugstore or toilet counter, or buy a box today to fight the beginnings of eczema. 50c a box.

Take Care of That Itching! All Itching Borders On Eczema.

Do you regard that itching as a serious thing? It is! Unless you begin to fight it with Dr. Hobson's Eczema Ointment, which is the only thing to cling on for months and years. Scores of grateful users say: "Why did we waste those months and years ago when so tested a remedy was on the market." This ointment is no experiment; it is absolutely healing in its power. Do not allow it to become serious. Buy a box today to fight the beginnings of eczema. 50c a box.

kimbo tribes in the Arctic regions. It has been usual to assume, because of the supposed scarcity of food, that no tribes of people would be found in the region which the Stefanoson party has ventured. It is possible that there are other and larger branches of the breed called the white Eskimo, a colony of which were only recently discovered.—Torrington Register.

The International Silver strike in Meriden is being prolonged over a difference of one hour of working time a week. The men will take ten per cent. increase and a fifty-four-hour week. The company will give ten per cent. increase and a fifty-five-hour week, and says that it is the maximum possible because of the fact that one of its twenty-two competitors are running on a fifty-five to fifty-nine-hour basis. It is one hour a week more. The company has put into effect already, another demand of the strikers and has established a minimum wage of twelve and one-half cents an hour for women workers.—Waterbury Republican.

Bridgeport today compares very favorably with other cities of its size and has probably as good a class of boys and girls as other cities, but for the good of the nation it has, and they are altogether too much loose talk, loose thought and loose morals. It may not be possible to reform those who are grown up, but the minds of children can be so impregnated with the thought of purity and of their duty to themselves, their country and their God, that they will not participate in clandestine meetings nor ally themselves in marriage to those physically or morally unfit.—Bridgeport Standard.

Yale can hardly be expected to be thankful for what she has received this fall but after all, considering her circumstances, it may well be that a stinging defeat was just what her headstrong undergraduates needed. If they cannot see the handwriting on the wall now they will never be able to read even in the largest of type. What Yale wants most is the substitution of graduate control of football for what now prevails or at least graduate participation in the council that settles football problems. The students have had their chance and woefully missed it. As the record of the last few seasons shows. Now they should gracefully drape themselves over the rear seats and let older and wiser men help them out of the slough in which they are cast through their own bad judgment. What Yale really lacks is someone who can impress on the tender undergraduates just how little he knows of the broad scheme of life. That belief of his that the sun rises and sets coincident with its advent upon the campus will have to be toned down.—Ansonia Sentinel.

Norwalk's liquor bill for one year was $442,000, and the city's poor walk paid $30,000 to assist the poor.

The War a Year Ago Today
Nov. 30, 1914.

Three big battles were fought in Poland.
Russians captured ten miles of German trenches near Lowicz, but failed in attack on Darskheim.
Russians won successes in the Carpathians and Galicia.
British ships again bombarded Zeebrugge.
Germans were expelled from Petrograd for raising funds for war-ships.

HAIR AND SCALP
NEED DAILY CARE
Beautiful Hair is Within the Reach of All

If you value the appearance of your hair you should treat your scalp as often and well as you brush your teeth and rub into the scalp part twice daily a Little Parisian Sage. This treatment is not a mere "hair tonic." It is bottled nourishment for the hair roots and it is simply wonderful what an improvement its use for even a week will make in the appearance of anyone's hair. It never injures, is de-lightfully cool and pleasant to the scalp and takes out the dirt, lifeless look in the hair, making it soft, fluffy, glossy and beautiful. Two or three applications remove every trace of dandruff, and daily use will prevent its return. Lee & Osgood Co. and the leading druggists everywhere can furnish you with Parisian Sage—it costs but a trifle.

Norwalk's liquor bill for one year was $442,000, and the city's poor walk paid $30,000 to assist the poor.

The War a Year Ago Today
Nov. 30, 1914.

Three big battles were fought in Poland.
Russians captured ten miles of German trenches near Lowicz, but failed in attack on Darskheim.
Russians won successes in the Carpathians and Galicia.
British ships again bombarded Zeebrugge.
Germans were expelled from Petrograd for raising funds for war-ships.

HAIR AND SCALP
NEED DAILY CARE
Beautiful Hair is Within the Reach of All

If you value the appearance of your hair you should treat your scalp as often and well as you brush your teeth and rub into the scalp part twice daily a Little Parisian Sage. This treatment is not a mere "hair tonic." It is bottled nourishment for the hair roots and it is simply wonderful what an improvement its use for even a week will make in the appearance of anyone's hair. It never injures, is de-lightfully cool and pleasant to the scalp and takes out the dirt, lifeless look in the hair, making it soft, fluffy, glossy and beautiful. Two or three applications remove every trace of dandruff, and daily use will prevent its return. Lee & Osgood Co. and the leading druggists everywhere can furnish you with Parisian Sage—it costs but a trifle.

Norwalk's liquor bill for one year was $442,000, and the city's poor walk paid $30,000 to assist the poor.